Re-zoning denied for fraternity's perspective house

By Stu Osterthun and Cathy Crist

A bid by Ginger Clement to re-zone a house located at 403 E. Fourth Street was denied by the Maryville City Council in their Monday night meeting. The 22-room house is a residence currently under strong consideration by the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity for purchase.

Although the bid for re-zoning the house from an R-2 single-family residence to an R-4 multi-family residence was rejected, there was another application for zoning the house as an R-2 dwelling, with a special use permit. This was also rejected after a recess by the Council and closed-door session by the residents present and their attorney, Ed Manning from Albany.

Clement was represented at the meeting by Roger Prokes, a Maryville attorney. Prokes asked the council to re-zone five to six lots of land surrounding the house.

To have the house re-zoned, Prokes said that a notification of residents living within 185 feet of the house was required.

"There are a considerable number of multi-family dwellings and considerable number of commercial dwellings," Prokes said. "It would be extremely difficult to put a single-family residence there."

"Mrs. Clement lives with her daughter there (at the house) and it is financially impossible to keep it going," Prokes said.

"One month last winter, the heating bills were in excess of $600 per month," he said. "Most families can't afford a home like this."

The fraternity became interested in purchasing the house last spring," said Brad Neuberger, president of Sigma Phi Epsilon.

"We approached Mrs. Clement in late March-early April about the possibility of her selling the house to us," Neuberger said. "There are four levels to the agreement that we have signed with her. The first level is that she was interested in selling the house. After that was established, we brought in the second level, conditions of the sale. The third level is where we are now, zoning of the house."

The final level of the agreement with Clement, Neuberger said, would have been the purchase of the house.

Clement presented the re-zoning of the house to the Maryville Planning and Zoning Commission in late September. The Commission denied her request. They (the Commission) gave their decision to the City Council for review.

"The City Council can overrule the Commission," Neuberger said. "The Commission voted down the R-4 re-zoning, but approved the R-2 with the special use permit."

"A special use permit would be a fine situation, except the fraternity is going to have trouble financing to swing this deal," Prokes said.

"The special permit would be acceptable if the guideline stipulations are reasonable," Neuberger said. "But, loaning money on a one year basis is a high financial risk for anyone loaning money."

"Housing has been a long term goal for us," Neuberger said. Jim Pry, president of the Alumni Board of Sigma Phi Epsilon and general manager of Uniroyal, said, "We're at a point where we feel we have to approach the housing issue. We've been looking for a location in town for over a year."

Pry went on to say that the grade-point-average of Sigma Phi Epsilon is one full point above any other fraternity on campus on the four-point grading scale. As well, the fraternity has made efforts to get acquainted with the neighbors by inviting them to meet with the fraternity on Mrs. Clement's lawn, but no one showed up.

There have been two other parties interested in purchasing the house.

Tyrone Thompson, in a letter to Mrs. Clement, said that he decided against the house because of the location.

"The properties around the house are lower in value and we would have a difficult time selling the home if we decide to move," Thompson said in the letter.

Another possibility for selling the house lies in a man from Kansas City area who is looking for a home to place under-privileged people, mostly college age or younger.

Prokes said that the tentative people are of lower economic status.

Manning, said that a petition in opposition of the re-zoning for the R-4 status had 95 signatures on it.

"The petition represents 50 out of 59 property owners within the 185-foot limit," Manning said.

"Changing this to R-4 would affect the stability of property values in that neighborhood," he said. "A special use permit is a less workable solution than re-zoning. You've (the Council) got to go by your (the city of Maryville's) zoning laws. And your (Maryville's) zoning laws state that re-zoning can only be done when it's in the public good, and there's substantial evidence of public benefit. But, the protestors would submit that there is not."

Clement said she purchased property by the Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity house nine years ago. She built a residence home there and sold it.

"Within the three-and-one-half years (of owning that house), I made $65,000 profit," she said.

Clements said that the home on Fourth Street has much historical value and she does not want to remove any of the antique fixtures in it.

Since the R-4 zoning can't be applied for again until next October, there will be pursuit for the R-2 special permit zoning.

The R-2 special permit zoning has to have guided stipulations made before it can be brought before the Planning and Zoning Commission. The stipulations will be decided upon by the Commission.

"I feel the neighbors aren't against us as individuals, it's the activities that are associated with fraternities," Neuberger said.

"We will pursue a special use permit, but the situation won't change as far as people's opinions. Special use has to be reviewed every year," said Neuberger.

John Leek, rush chairman for the fraternity, said they will keep trying for a house in Maryville.

"We're still a strong organization on campus," he said. "I don't think that this will have that big of an effect on rush in the future. We have a good reputation also."

"I feel that it's too bad that the fraternity was rejected. I think it was the best group that Ginger Clement could have put into the house," Neuberger said. "She's now faced with a situation where she will have to approach her other alternative. That alternative is to place 30 non-blood-related people, under current laws, in the house. I feel we would be a much more controlled group than 30 non-related people."

Neuberger said, "The financial package was ideal for us and we felt this house was the one for us in the city of Maryville."

Controversial Issue

Trial 48-hour weekend slated for Homecoming

By Eric Bullock

For the last three years students on campus have enjoyed an occasional relaxation of visitation rules called 48-hour weekends. This is meant open visitation for anyone at any time in the dormitories.

Northwest's Inter-Residence Council has proposed another 48-hour weekend for Homecoming, but this time only on a trial basis.

"This may be the last time we have a 48-hour weekend. Last year there was so much vandalism and broken rules I never expected to see one again," said Candy Clough, IRC president.

"This is a trial," she said. "If there are no problems with vandalism and discipline is maintained there will be more of them. But if there are any problems like last year, no way, that's the end of them."

Last year the mens dorms suffered an unusual amount of vandalism and rule violations during the 48-hour weekends.

"Forty-eight-hour weekends started out as a convenience for the students," said Bruce Wake, director of housing. "Before finals week students could get together to study and not have to worry about visitation rules. For weekends with heavy activity like Homecoming or the Muscular Dystrophy Dance Marathon it just makes things easier for the students because they wouldn't have to worry about being out of the dorms by a certain hour."

"The first couple of years it went well and we had about three 48-hour weekends per semester. But last year it tended to be misused," Wake said. "There was not only a great deal of trouble with vandalism in the halls but also in the parking lots."

Last year after the first 48-hour weekend North Complex decided not to participate in any more. A long list of broken glass, ruined telephones and alcohol violations made the North Complex staff decide to not schedule any more of the weekends.

"Last year things got out of hand," said Gary Keenan, the hall director of North Complex last year. "There was a high incidence of vandalism, alcohol and even fireworks in the building."

"We had as many complaints about noise at 3 a.m. as we did at 10 p.m. It just never quieted down. Our staff wasn't looking for write-ups. An RA would knock on a door to ask someone to turn down his stereo and he would answer with a beer in his hand."

Keenan feels that last year's problems were largely caused by a misunderstanding of the meaning of 48-hour weekends.

"It was a relaxation of visitation rules and that's all," Keenan said. "Too many people felt that it meant party weekend. They misinterpreted the meaning of 'open weekend.' It sounds too much like 'open season.'"

"Actually, I wouldn't object to the elimination of visitation rules period. A 48-hour weekend is too novel a thing," Keenan said. "When open visitation is allowed only for special weekends it gets misused. It's as if the school was telling them 'here you go, have at it, do what you want.'"

The dorm staffs of Hudson and North Complex have planned measures to see that the 48-hour weekend will work this year.

"We are going to have double shifts of RA's," said Tim Crowley, North Complex hall director.

"We're also going to try to get the hall council involved and make residents aware and responsible for what goes on around the halls. If hall council will take responsibility for damages so that the school doesn't have to pay for them, then maybe students will be looking out more to keep the dorm in good shape because it will be their own dorm money paying for repairs."

Hudson Hall is trying new approach by asking each of the residents to contribute a small amount of money to pay for any possible vandalism.

"We wanted to show IRC that the students are responsible by asking them to pitch in a certain amount of money," said Hudson Hall director Sherry Long. "The girls are more or less betting on themselves. So we asked each girl that is going to be staying that weekend to pitch in $1.50 to cover any vandalism. If there is no vandalism they will get their money back and this way the school won't have to pay anything," Long said.

Long said that there has been good feedback for this project. She said that most of the girls like the idea and the administration has been impressed by the efforts of the Hall.

"We've also set up a patrol system for the weekend made up of volunteer girls," Long said. "The girls will be patrolling the hall in groups of two to make sure all of the outside doors are not propped open and that there are no unescorted men in the dorm."

People on the dorm staffs, IRC and hall councils are working hard to make sure that this 48-hour weekend will work, Long said.

"We decided to give it another chance," Crowley said. "But if it doesn't work out good it won't occur again."

Seniors to visit campus

By Karla Miller

Preparations are underway for an estimated three to four hundred visiting students attending Northwest's Senior Day. Steve Sturm, admissions counselor, and Jim Goff, director of admissions, along with the Northwest student ambassadors are organizing the annual event.

"On Oct. 17, visiting student registration and a general welcome from Dr. Mees, vice-president of student development, will begin at 8 a.m. in the J. W. Jones Student Union Ballroom," said Sturm.

"The thirty-two student ambassadors will help set up for the browsing session, welcome students as they arrive in the parking lot, give tours of the campus and generally be on hand to answer any questions the visiting students may have," said Sturm. "It will be a lot of hard work and a very long day for us, but it will also be a great experience for us. Relating to when we were new here will help us a great deal."

"We are still in need of volunteers willing to share their room with a student, anyone interested should contact me at the admissions office," said Sturm.

A browsing session, one of the days main highlights, will give visiting and present students an excellent opportunity to learn more about the University. "The main purpose of the browsing session is to give ready access to all academic fields, making it easier to compare and ask questions than it would normally be with academic representatives spread out over the entire campus. This is also a chance to find out about the 100 plus organizations and clubs offered on campus. These groups offer personal growth and new experiences. Also we hope to stimulate interest in our present students and faculty," said Sturm.

The browsing session will begin at 9:30 a.m. on the 3rd floor ballroom. Representatives will be located as follows: academic advisors- ballroom; R.O.T.C. rifle demonstration- upper lakeview room; career exploration and placement- 2nd floor maple room; campus tours (walking and bus)- 2nd floor information booth; clubs and organizations- 1st floor Bearcat den; general information and luggage check-in- 1st floor commuter lounge.

"All clubs and organizations are invited to participate," said Goff. "We would like to have all campus groups represented."

At 12 a.m. a pep rally for the Northwest vs. Lincoln football game will be in the gym. "We hope for a big student body turnout to give our team the support they deserve," said Sturm.

Afternoon activities planned for the day are lunch at 11 a.m. in the cafeteria, dormitory check-in from 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. in Rickenbrode stadium and swimming in the aquatic center from 2 p.m. until 5 p.m.

During the evening the events planned in the Spanish Den are Nightwings, a campus band, performing from 5 p.m. to 6 p.m.; a play entitled Androcles and the Lion from 6:15 p.m. to 6:45 p.m.; Georgina Merriam-Johnson, a student, executing a piano solo at 7 p.m. The campus jazz band performs at 7:15 p.m.; the swing choir, University Celebration, will perform at 8 p.m. and following the choir will be a concert with the band Legend in the ballroom at 9:30 p.m. to 11:30 p.m. to round out the days

Two students killed in auto accident

Two Northwest students were killed early Wednesday morning when the car they were in lost control on North 71 Highway north of Clearmont and hit an abutment.

Killed were Milton Reed, a freshman from Princeton, and Kelly Bateman, a freshman from Liberty.

The accident happened at approximately 1:30 a.m. Wednesday morning. The bodies are at Price Funeral Home with services pending.

'D' and 'F' slips

A warning to the students

Each semester when it's about time for "D" and "F" slips to come out, complaints are usually loudly voiced on how unfair the system is or about them being sent home to the parents.

It's true that a person may receive a slip on the basis of one test, but usually that person knows if he or she did poorly on the one test or if the rest of the tests will be much the same. The "D" and "F" slips are a warning to the students. They come at a time in the semester where there is still time to drop the class.

This year the slips will be sent only to the student's local address. If that address happens to be the home address, the slips will be sent there. What is so unfair about that?

Actually it is good that there is a system that lets a student know where he or she stands in the class while there is still time to drop the class.

National Newspaper Week Freedom of the press is stressed

In observance of National Newspaper Week, the reality of a free press has been recognized.

The first amendment to the U.S. Constitution guarantees a free press to the people in this country, a uniqueness not given to the people in fascist or communistic societies.

As journalism has developed from the first printing press in 1476 in England, so has the life of the typical American, thanks to the press.

The role of the journalist has evolved from a public forum for prominent citizens to express their views to a public informer for the citizens who wish to know about the various views.

Early newspapers were limited on the content available to them because of the lack of distant communication with towns only 50 miles away. Today, the readers of news have a wide variety of facts given to them each day. The sources come not always from 50 miles away, but across the oceans and continents.

The limitation of content has thus been eliminated by the use of modern electronics.

Another limitation that has been dissolved is the area of circulation. One newspaper can cover an unlimited amount of area and reach millions of people, something the founders of journalism probably never thought of.

It's true that the limitations are non-existent on the power of the press in the United States. However, when a Communist or fascist leader want to take over a country, the first thing he does is limit the media on what is released.

John Milton, in his Areopagitica written in 1644, argued against the repression of freedom of expression, he advocated truth in expression. "Let her and Falsehood grapple: who ever knew Truth put to the worse in a free and open encounter?"

It's said that those who are afraid of truth will seek to prevent its arrival into a free market of thought--the press. But those who believe in public freedom should realize that its existence depends upon the freedom of the press.

The watchdog role played by the press upon government, city, county, and state officials is important to the essential freedom of the people. Without this freedom to print what is necessary to see truth brought about, the population would not have the knowledge of changes that are being or need to be made.

As in a professional paper, a state supported student paper has the freedom to print truths. Good judgement, timeliness, significance to the readers and effect upon the readers are all considered when any story is written and no one can deny these rights of Constitutional freedom.

Although this isn't 1644 and the "rolling of the presses" is much more complicated now, the essence of National Newspaper Week remains. Freedom of the press is a guarantee of freedom of the people.

A nature photography workshop will be from 3-7 p.m. Oct. 18. Basics of 35mm camera operation and photographic techniques will be discussed. "Hands on" photography experience will be given at Nodaway Lake when members of the workshop will be given the opportunity to take photos there.

The workshop cost is $3 which includes film, developing and transportation. The cost is $1 if you provide your own camera and film.

The sign-up deadline is Oct. 16 at 4 p.m. in the Union Director's Office. The workshop is being co-sponsored by the 102 River Club and is open to all students, staff and faculty.

New Penneys store opens

The new J.C. Penney Store, located next to K-Mart on South Highway 71, opened Oct. 10. A ribbon cutting ceremony was held Oct. 14.

"We have a modern plant now," said Larry Hooppaw, manager of the store. "Customer acceptance and response has been really tremendous and higher than expected."

Hooppaw said that the old store was first opened 61 years ago and at the time was a very modern facility. He added that one reason for the move to the new location was that the old store could not present merchandise the way that it needed to be presented.

"We now have expanded lines," Hooppaw said. "As time goes on we'll be using more added space and things will improve in the future."

Sunkel lectures Iowa teachers

Mary Jane Sunkel, assistant professor of business administration at Northwest, spoke to the Southwest Iowa High School business Teachers Oct. 12 at Southwestern Community College in Creston.

This session was sponsored by the Green Valley Area Education Agency. The topic of her presentation was "Word Processing/Data Processing in the Curriculum."

Sunkel also demonstrated the keyboarding program used at Northwest which uses the computer to teach touch typing. This is similar to a basic typing class. This keyboarding program was developed by Martha Cooper, director of special programs, and her husband Denzil Cooper.

Sunkel finished her presentation by discussing word processing and the office of the future.

"The high school teachers seemed interested in the program we offer here," Sunkel said.

Tickets ready for unusual game

The Northwest vs. the Yugoslavia University basketball game will be Nov. 16 in Lamkin Gym.

Tickets are available through the Northwest Athletic Department. Tickets will be $2 for students with a student I.D. and $4 for non-students.

The tickets will be delivered to the dorm rooms. For more information, contact Jim Johnson, Northwest baseball coach, at the athletic department.

Ski trip plans finalized

Breckenridge, Colorado, will be the site of the 13th annual Northwest Ski Trip January 2 through 8, said Steve Gates, outdoor program/student trip coordinator.

"The trip cost will be $280 which includes transportation to and from Maryville, five nights lodging, three days of Breckenridge lift tickets, five day ski rental and a one day ski lesson," he said. "Rental costs can be dropped if unneeded."

"Lodging will be at Beaver Run condominiums located directly on the ski slope. The condominium is equipped with an indoor/outdoor swimming pool, saunas, hot tubs, a night club and continental restaurant. Free shuttle buses are available daily to Copper Mountain, Keystone and A-Basin ski resorts," Gates said.

"We can take 41 people and we've already had people come by and sign up," he said.

A deposit of $50 is required to be in the Union Director's office no later than Nov. 1.

For more information contact Steve Gates at ext. 1345.

FCA meeting rescheduled

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes will not meet Oct. 22 as previously announced. Instead FCA will meet at 7:30 Oct. 29 at the Wesley Center. Anyone is welcome to attend.

Final placement Oct. 21

The second of two placement seminars will be Oct. 21 at 4 p.m. in the J.W. Jones Student Union Ballroom.

The seminar will cover resume writing. Jim Wyant, an instructor in Northwest's School of Business and Northwest's director of financial aids, will be the guest speaker.

First Lady influences change

Fall fashions turning to casual elegance

By Helen Leeper

"The fashion looks are gradually moving to casual elegance," said Diane Hicks, Northwest's director of fashion merchandising. "The clothes are looser and longer, far less severe than the prep-py trend."

Although it depends upon where a person is located in the country, the change to the softer look will be gradual," said Hicks.

"If you look in magazines like Vogue or Bazaar you can see some of the fashions that the industry is moving to," she said. "For example, some of the fashions might look pretty far out right now, but once they're toned down, the same general look comes through."

Softer fashions, like silk blouses and accessories, will be paired with heavier fabrics like wool tweeds for a classy but still slightly tailored look.

"Accessories are very big this year," said Hicks, "especially in the metallic look."

Hicks said she felt this is because many people don't just discard an entire wardrobe after new fashions are introduced. "The accessories help to give the older pieces of a wardrobe a much more updated appearance."

Skirts will be about one and one-half inch longer than last year's and pants will be of the pleated type. Pantlegs will remain straight but not tight.

"As for the return of the mini-skirt," said Hicks, "it will be a spotty thing. One of the most noted Paris designers, Yves St. Laurent, introduced a lot of shorter styles this year, but the change is too abrupt. When mini-skirts first became popular, the change had been a gradual one."

"Often, people think a designer just sits down and decides what kind of clothes to put out and does it," said Hicks. "but that's not quite true. A lot of consideration goes into it because it's the consumer that decides if the fashion is going to work."

Other fashion news includes lower heeled shoes that are very "in" as well as lower topped boots that are worn with long skirts.

"Fabrics are very loose and luxurious, and the colors are very rich and deep," she said. "The fabrics are natural blends or imitations of them."

Hicks also said that the coming trends toward the softer, fuller clothes is a reaction to the sharp, tailored looks that were popular last year.

"The change won't be seen immediately," she said. "It will be gradual. It has been said that fashion is never revolutionary, its evolutionary."

Men's fashions will have the same types of changes. Although they are not as quick to change, they are much more rapid than in the past.

"I think this is due, partly, to the popularity of Gentlemen's Quarterly, GQ," said Hicks. "It is the most influential men's magazine today."

Many different styles of clothes will be worn, she said.

"Fashions usually relate to what is happening in the world. When we see fashion mixed up, as it is now, it reflects turmoil in society. I think that's the reason so many different looks are being worn in the same time."

Paris was at one time the world's fashion capital but Hicks said this idea is changing.

"Paris fashions are usually very avant garde" very up to date and far out. But America is becoming much more important in the fashion industry because it reflects the less flashy fashions and more wearable clothes of the everyday person."

Probably the most influential fashion figure today is Nancy Reagan. "Women's Wear Daily" was ecstatic when Ronald Reagan was elected to the presidency because Mrs. Reagan has always had a flair for fashion. She is the First Lady to have such an impact since Jacqueline Kennedy."

'Stones' to play at Cedar Falls

By Jim Kirkpatrick

The Rolling Stones, the "Bad Boys of Rock-n-Roll," have scheduled a concert at the UNI-Dome in Cedar Falls for Nov. 19. This may be the only Midwestern date for the Stones since they do not have a concert scheduled for Kansas City and the Oct. 1 St. Louis show was cancelled. Unless the St. Louis show is rescheduled, the Northern Iowa concert is their only appearance within driving distance of Maryville.

The Stones kicked off their 1981 North American Tour at JFK Stadium in Philadelphia, Sept. 25. Some 90,000 fans paid $17 a ticket to witness the debut concert of the "British Are Coming" tour. Appearing with the Stones were Journey and George Thorogood. Both acts also opened the Sept. 27 Buffalo concert.

The Stones were accompanied onstage by Ian McLagan on organ and Ian Stewart on piano. McLagan was a member of "Faces," a hard rocking early-70's band which also included Stones guitarist Ron Wood and a lead singer named Rod Stewart. What was billed as the first Stones concert in three years really wasn't true. Jagger and company played a warm-up gig at a small nightclub in Worcester, Mass., on Sept. 14. Some 4,000 people showed up at a nightclub that seats 300 and numerous arrests were made. Seventy police were brought in to control the action.

The "British Are Coming" tour may well be the most publicized tour by a rock-n-roll band since the Beatles' first American venture in 1964.

The Stones played an outdoor show to an audience of 65,000 in Boulder, Colo., Oct. 4. Heart and Thorogood opened the show for the Stones as the tour continued to pick up steam. Some 1.5 million people are expected to attend around 40 Stones concert on this tour and gross revenues are expected to be around $25 million. The fragrance and cosmetics company, Jovan, is sponsoring the Stones concerts and their name will appear on all of the tickets as "Jovan Presents The Rolling Stones." Jovan expects to sell approximately 750,000 tour posters for $1.00 with the purchase of a Jovan product.

The Stones have aged gracefully since their debut album in 1964 and are true masters in their field of art. Without a doubt they have played a big part in the history of rock-n-roll.

The 'Reel Thing'

Movie variety offered

By John Howell

A wide variety of movies are available this week on campus and in Maryville, ranging from superheroes to classic British films.

Superman II opens tonight and runs through Sunday at 7:30 p.m. in the Horace Mann Auditorium.

Christopher Reeve and Margot Kidder return as the man of steel and Lois Lane in one of the biggest grossing films of the year. Not only more comical, this sequel is more exciting than the original. This movie, sponsored by the Student Union Board, has an admission price of $1.25. The International Film Series continues Oct. 26 with the showing of The Loneliness of the Long Distance Runner. This British film depicts youthful resistance to authority when a boy is sent to a reform school supervised by a stern headmaster. The movie, sponsored by the NWMSU Performing Arts Committee, will be presented at 7 p.m. in the Wells Library Auditorium for the price of $1.00.

Appearing at the Tivoli theatre for the 2nd week is High School Memories, rated X. This skin-flick, starring Annette Haven, begins at 8 p.m. with the admission price of $3.

At the Missouri Twin Cinema beginning tomorrow night is Carbon Copy and S.O.B.

Starring George Segal, Carbon Copy is a funny movie about a man who can't seem to get anything to go right.

Blake Edwards' S.O.B. is a hilarious motion picture starring Julie Andrews, Edwards' real-life wife, and Richard Mulligan. The story centers around a director's attempt to make it back to the top. This movie says a lot about the ethics, or lack of, by Hollywood jet-setters.

For the times of both Missouri Twin Cinema movies and further information call movietime at 582-4834.

Mexico trip offered for Spring break

The men's tennis team will be traveling to Mexico for their spring break play and are opening the opportunity up to anyone interested to join them.

The trip will cost $320 including roundtrip air fare, six days and five nights in a hotel. The plane will take off from Kansas City International Airport and arrive in Mexico City.

"We are opening this opportunity up to everyone," said head coach John Byrd. "The more people we have go, the cheaper the fare will be. Students might consider this trip rather than a spring trip to Texas or Colorado for the price."

"We have raised some money through a project for the team," Byrd said, "and we are looking for another project to raise more money."

Persons interested in making the trip to Mexico City during spring break need to contact Byrd at Lamkin Gymnasium.

"There will be a $50 deposit for persons wishing to go," Byrd said. "This will give the airline an idea of how many people will be going. I need to be contacted by interested persons before Thanksgiving to ensure them a spot on the trip."

While in Mexico City, the 'Cats will be playing the University of Mexico and a number of area tennis clubs.

Turnovers help Rolla defeat Bearcats

By Stu Osterthun

The University of Missouri-Rolla turned three Northwest Missouri State turnovers into 17 points to defeat the Bearcats 24-3 last Saturday at Rolla.

Northwest dropped to 1-1 in the conference and 3-3 overall. Rolla raised their MIAA mark to 2-0 and their overall to 4-2.

UMR intercepted a Bearcat pass that set up Craig Thomas' 40-yard field goal in the first quarter. A 'Cat fumble in the third period set up Brian Paris' one-yard run and an eight-yard interception by defensive end Tony Drumm closed out the scoring in the fourth period. The other Miner touchdown occurred on a one-yard run by Paris after a 73-yard drive with 45 seconds left in the first half.

Jeff Conway kicked a 27-yard field goal in the third quarter for the 'Cats only score.

The statistics were fairly even with UMR gaining 280 total yards to Northwest's 246. Each team ran 74 plays from scrimmage. Bearcat Coach Jim Redd said he didn't think the statistics would be that even.

"It was amazing at the end of the game that the statistics were so close," he said. "I thought Rolla ran up and down the field pretty handily against us."

Dale DeBourge led Bearcat rushers with 57 yards on 12 carries. Greg Baker had 42 yards in eight attempts.

Brian Quinn completed six of 17 passes for 122 yards and one interception. Tight end Brad Sellmeyer caught three passes for 65 yards. Running back Alan McCrary ran back three kickoffs for 81 yards, including a 39-yard run to open the game.

Defensively, the 'Cats were led by linebackers Chip Gregory and Bruce Lang. Gregory had nine solo tackles with 14 total and Lang had 10 total tackles. Catback Greg Lees also had a busy day, making 10 solo tackles with 13 total. Redd said the defense was a bit sluggish.

"Defensively, I was upset that our first unit couldn't control the line of scrimmage very well," Redd said. "The special team play was adequate as well as the kicking game."

"It was a team loss," he said. "No specific area lost it for us. We had some big mistakes that stymied some drives. I felt Rolla came up with their best performance of the year against us, based upon other films I've seen."

Seven Bearcats left the Rolla game with injuries. Quarterback Todd Murphy has bruised ribs and is doubtful for this week's game against Lincoln, Redd said.

"Bob Paul has a sore knee, Mark Snively has a back strain, Craig Orr has a groin injury, Marty Combs has a slight concussion and was in the hospital, Eddie Coleman has a pulled groin and Gary Cotton sprained an ankle," Redd said.

Running back Chris Miller, out with a knee injury since the Nebraska-Omaha game, carried the ball four times for eight yards against Rolla.

Center Jim Lathrop and running back Sam Morgan have undergone knee surgery and are lost for the season.

Redd said every game all season has been big for the Bearcats.

"Every game is a pivotal game for us," he said. "Pittsburg State's only loss was to us and that was a big game. Emporia State was a big win. The Central Missouri game was of course big because of the conference game involved."

Redd said he couldn't pin-point a reason for the untimely turnovers.

"A lot of times it's a slight fundamental mistake," he said. "We're a young offensive team with only three seniors on offense and two of them are at tight end (Gary Hogue and Sellmeyer). Our backfield is young also. We're not satisfied offensively but we do lead the conference in rushing."

The Lincoln University Blue Tigers come to Rickenbrode Stadium this week with a young team, Redd said.

"Lincoln is young and aggressive and play a lot of freshmen (10 offensively and defensively combined)," he said. "They are going to be tough. They use a double slot with two split ends and one running back. With that formation they can run a lot of quick pass patterns, using a dropback of one step and then throw. Defensively, they run a lot of 50 defenses. The offense is geared toward the pass."

The Blue Tigers are winless in six games this season. However, they lost to Rolla, 14-12, and Redd said "they will be coming up here to get a win."

Redd said he will make a few adjustments defensively and "we'd like to refine those adjustments."

"We're still in the conference at 1-1," Redd said. "The conference is far from over. None of our upcoming games are going to be easy. We've got a big job ahead and hope everyone supports us."

Women's soccer launched

By Stu Osterthun

What once was just a mere dream for the future became a reality this fall as 14 women at Northwest Missouri State University formed the first-ever women's soccer club at Northwest.

It all started last year when a few women worked out with the then established men's soccer club. Interest grew throughout the school year and the women had their first match last spring against Benedictine.

This fall, the women have their own schedule, five games for sure, and some returning experience. Gus Wegner, coach, and coach of the men's team, is pleased with the enthusiasm and desire of the women.

"I'm very pleased," he said. "They've done well. Overall, we could have about three or four more women out to learn the game but we're doing fine."

One senior, three juniors and 10 sophomores and freshmen make up the squad which began working out Aug. 31.

The women have played four games so far this season. They opened up at Manhattan, Kan., against Kansas State University and lost 3-2. Wegner said KSU controlled the play but "we did all right for our first game."

The squad traveled to Rockhurst of Kansas City, Sept. 26, and lost another close one, 2-1.

"They were nervous playing in front of 3,000 or 4,000 people," Wegner said. "We played well, holding them down in the second half."

The third match was Oct. 3 against Missouri in Columbia. MU won the game 5-1 but Wegner said the Tigers were very good.

"They were the best women's team I've ever seen," even though I haven't seen many," he said.

The most recent match the club has played was against the University of Kansas on Oct. 10. KU won the match 8-0 on a wet, muddy field in Maryville.

"The women lost to a good women's team," Wegner said. "They were experienced. The first half was similar to the last two games in that they (the Northwest club) are tentative in the first half."

Diane Mathews, a sophomore who played all last year, said it is a different style of play from the men's competition.

"We've got a season of experience behind us and we've got more games, too," Mathews said. "We have nearly everybody that was out last year plus a couple more."

Mathews said the men have improved a lot over last year and "I couldn't even compete in their league this year."

"We're in very good shape," she said. "Rockhurst and MU had many girls and we kept up with them. We run a mile a day so our stamina is good."

The women have practices four days a week, two hours a night, Wegner said. Junior Lauri Roland is the team captain.

Lindy McEnroe, a sophomore and the team's leading scorer this season, said she played for the first time in the spring game against Benedictine.

"We're a lot more organized this year," she said. "We each know more about soccer than we did and our scores in the games show it."

"Two weeks ago we lost 5-1 to MU," McEnroe said. "Considering we have just organized, I think we've done very well. MU has had a team for years."

Wegner said he is trying to schedule a game with Benedictine soon. However, the final game of the fall season will be Oct. 31 against Creighton University.

Late FG earns Bears 6-6 tie

Scott Spackler's second field goal of the game, a 40-yarder, drew Southwest Missouri even with Central Missouri, with 7:20 showing on the game clock, and enabled the Bears to walk away with a 6-6 tie Saturday.

Spackler had cut a Mule 6-0 advantage in half in the third quarter with a 39-yard kick. Central placekicker Landon Jones provided the Mules' offense in the second quarter, connecting on field goal attempts of 27 and 31 yards.

The Bears missed an opportunity to grab the lead, reaching the Mule 29 on fourth and one with three minutes left. But Southwest elected to try for the first down, and Central held.

Central State 26 Lincoln 7

Kelly Funderburk rushed for 151 yards and three touchdowns to pace Central State to a 26-7 victory over Lincoln University in a non-conference game at Wilberforce, Ohio.

Central State quarterback James Woody completed six of 17 passes for 108 yards and scored on a 67-yard run in the third quarter.

A two-yard pass from Michael Kimbrough to Wallace Gardner accounted for the lone Lincoln score.

Central State is 3-2 and Lincoln dropped to 0-6.

Northeast 34 Southeast 19

Northeast Missouri scored 21 points in the final 11 minutes on two Tom Hayes touchdown passes to beat Southeast Missouri 34-19 in an MIAA game at Cape Girardeau.

The Bulldogs had trailed for three quarters until Hayes hit Rich Otte for a 26-yard touchdown. Vernon Buckner ran five yards for his second touchdown and Kelvin Cunningham raced 78 yards with an interception for the final score.

The Bulldogs are 2-3 overall and 1-0 in the MIAA. Southeast is 0-6 and 0-1.

Newcomers enhance Bearcat B-ball

By Jim Kirkpatrick

Northwest Missouri State's Bearcat basketball squad began practice Thursday, with all five starters returning from last season's 13-14 effort. One of those five starters, All-MIAA second team selection Tim Shelby, will be ineligible until January because of grades. Shelby was the 'Cats' leading scorer last season with an average of 15.8 points per game. Shelby also contributed from the free throw line, connecting at a 72 percent clip.

Last season's top playmaker, Mark Yager, will be returning for his senior season. He was the only member of the squad to start in all 27 Bearcat games last season. Yager averaged 11 points per contest and was the leading Northwest scorer in four games, including a 25-point outburst against Dana College. Yager was an All-MIAA Honorable Mention selection.

Another returning All-MIAA Honorable Mention choice is sophomore Victor Coleman. Coleman started in 25 games a year ago, averaging 12.7 points and 4.5 rebounds per game.

Northwest's top rebounder from last season, Phil Smith, will be back for his final season on the hardwood. Smith, a 6-5 forward, averaged 9.6 points and 5.9 rebounds.

The Bearcats' other starting spot was filled by several other players last year, with 6-7 Todd Gordon leading the rest of the pack by starting in 12 games. Gordon led the team in field goal percentage (61 percent) and paced the Bearcats in scoring four times. Gordon peaked with 28 points against Missouri-Rolla. He also led all rebounders in that contest, snatching 10 off the boards.

Other returnees from last year include seniors Anthony Darby and Chris Phelps, juniors Scott MacDonald, Ricky Owen and Dave Kolar and sophomore Joe Jorgensen. Kolar broke a bone in his right hand, but Bearcat coach Lionel Sinn said the injury will sideline Kolar only "three to five weeks."

In addition to his veterans, Sinn said he is hoping a busy recruiting season will pay big dividends for Northwest this year.

"We have a good-looking freshman class coming in to help us," Sinn said. Included in that group is Indiana second team all-state selection Jeff Simon, who averaged 13 points and 10 rebounds per game for Muncie Central High School. MCHS has won more state high school basketball championships than any other high school in Indiana. Simon, a 6-6 forward, was an All-National Honorable Mention selection. Of his new team, Simon said, "I think we're strong in both the front and back courts and should really be competitive in the conference race."

Sinn's recruiters also grabbed Mark Studebaker, another Muncie native. The 6-1 freshman averaged 17 points per game for Yorktown High School.

Northwest got a pair of recruits out of the St. Louis area in Tony White and Chuck West. White, a 6-4 forward-guard, attended Assumption High School in East St. Louis, Ill., where he averaged 17 points and 14 rebounds per contest. West played for St. Louis McCluer North, contributing 17 points and 10 rebounds per game. His efforts earned him a berth on an all-district second team. West, a 6-5 forward, said, "If we play as a team, we'll have an outstanding team, but if we play individual ball, the team won't be as strong. We have good potential."

Two in-state newcomers are Dennis Ceglenski and Steve Behlmann. A 6-4 forward, Ceglenski averaged 20 points and 13 rebounds a game to lead Mound City to the state Class 1A championship last year. Behlmann, a 6-7 forward-center from Florissant, attended Chaminade College Prep where he led the Flyers to their best-ever record.

The Bearcats' biggest newcomer is 6-8, 210-pound center-forward Dave Honz, who averaged 13 points and 11 rebounds last season. Ryan helped Omaha Ryan High School reach the Nebraska state tournament in 1980-81.

Marshalltown (Ia.) Junior College transfer Larry Wade will be eligible for action this season. Wade, a 5-11 guard, averaged 16.6 points and 4.2 rebounds for MJC.

With what appears to be an abundance of new talent staring him in the face, Sinn said starting positions on his club will be up for grabs.

"I see tough competition for five opening spots," he said. "They all start out even at the beginning of the year."

Last season, Northwest sported a 5-9 conference record which was good enough for a share of fifth place in an eight-team race. With the departure of Southwest Missouri State, seven will compete this year. Sinn said he expects most of the teams to be extremely competitive.

"Out of the seven teams in the conference, I can see four or five, and maybe as many as six, teams making a bonafide run for the conference title. We are one of those teams that has potential to take it. At this point, we can't see one team that stands out ahead of all of the rest," he said.

This season, the Bearcats will attempt to reverse the close calls they dropped last year. The youthful team, operating most of the 1980-81 season with a lineup composed of three juniors and two freshmen, dropped six games by either one or two points. In addition, by adding 38 points in exactly the right spots, Northwest could have finished at 24-3 and undefeated in the MIAA.

The team will open play this season Nov. 12 with the annual Green-White scrimmage and will inaugurate the new season with an exhibition against the University of Yugoslavia Nov. 16. Morningside will then visit Lamkin Gym to play the 'Cats Nov. 21.

'Kitten runners sixth at Iowa

By Dwayne McClellan

Northwest Missouri State's women's cross country team finished sixth in a 12-team field at the University of Iowa Invitational Oct. 10. The Bearkittens scored 214 points in edging out seventh-place Northeast Missouri.

The University of Iowa won the race with a score of 29 points. Next was Drake, with 48, followed by the University of Wisconsin-LaCrosse (74), Central (Ia.) College (84), University of Kansas (137), Luther College (210) and Northwest.

For the fourth time in five events, Roberta Darr set the pace for the Bearkittens, running the 5,000-meter course in 19:48. Darr placed 32nd in the race.

Sheryl DeLoach finished 39th overall, with a time of 19:59. Lisa Shingledecker was 44th, coming in at 20:37. Chris Wellerding finished in the 47th spot with a 20:42 mark. Vicki Gordon's 21:03 was good enough for 53rd place.

Northwest head coach Pam Medford said she saw the meet as a good experimental race and said she thought her squad did well there.

"Considering the competition, I thought we did really well," Medford said. "I thought that we let Luther College slip ahead of us in the standings. But we beat Northeast (Missouri), and that may have been why we let Luther ahead of us," she said.

"We attacked the course really well. That did not bother us," Medford said. "We attacked the course like we were supposed to do."

"Some of them experimented with different running ideas to see if they could do better," she said. "It was a good idea. They know if they can go out of the race in a hurry or not. They pretty well realize what they can do and what they can't do."

The Bearkittens have a week off to prepare for the MAIAW Championship at Cape Girardeau Oct. 24.

"We are preparing (for the meet) physically and mentally. We need to run hard for state and we feel we will be strong for the meet," Medford said.

Tennis team offers trip

The Bearcat men's tennis team will be playing their first and last match of their fall season.

"This will end our fall practicing sessions and give us a chance to see where we are in regards to other competition," said head coach John Byrd.

There will be eight men going on the trip, four of which are freshmen this year.

The team will be playing Baker University and Kansas University Friday in two separate matches. The 'Cats will play Baker at 11 a.m. and KU at 1:30 p.m.

Singles for the matches are: number one, George Adeyemi, number two singles is Jim Eaton, the third position is occupied by Jim Gerstner, fourth position is Dave DeLoach, fifth is Goodwin Johnson and in sixth place singles is Tom Jackson.

Doubles competition will find Adeyemi and Johnson paired up for the number one spot, Eaton and Gerstner in the number two position and DeLoach and Jackson filling the third doubles spot.

'Kittens 24-7 after weekend wins

The Bearkitten volleyball team improved its record to 24-7 by sweeping by College of St. Mary, Missouri Western and Rockhurst College Oct. 6 and defeating Missouri-Kansas City Oct. 7.

The 'Kittens had little trouble at Missouri Western, downing St. Mary's, 15-6, 15-13, edging the Lady Griffons, 15-6, 12-15, 15-9, and sweeping Rockhurst, 15-5, 15-11.

The next day, the Bearkittens continued their winning streak with a victory over UMKC. The first two matches in the best-of-five series went to Northwest, 15-13, 15-7. Then after losing the third match, 12-15, the 'Kittens came back with a crushing, 15-1 victory.

Miriam Heilman distinguished herself with 16 kills against UMKC. Angie Kidwell had eight aces, while teammate Donna Shuh contributed 24 assists to aid the cause.

The Bearkittens' next home appearance will be Oct. 16-17 in the 1981 Bearkitten Invitational. Northwest coach Pam Stanek said the tournament, which will feature several of her team's rivals, will be a valuable warm-up for the state tournament.

"Northeast and Central Missouri are our biggest competition for the state championship. We're the defending state champs, so the other teams are going to be out to get us," she said. "They will be at our tournament this weekend, and so will UNO. We and UNO will be the two strongest teams there. We are ranked ninth and we're ranked sixth. We usually play up to our competition, so we will have some good matches," Stanek said.

Northwest will get the tournament off the ground by taking on the University of South Dakota at 6 p.m. Friday. The 'Kittens will then play Northeast Missouri. The Bearkitten junior varsity will play Central Missouri at 8:30 p.m. Friday. The tournament will continue Saturday, as Northwest takes on Doane at 10:15 a.m. The JV will play UNO, Loras and UMKC.
